The European Federation of Chemical Engineering (EFCE) is pleased to present the call for nominations for the second EFCE Excellence Award in Fluid Separations. This quadrennial award recognises a PhD thesis of a researcher or engineer which demonstrates an outstanding contribution to research and/or practice in fluid separations.

The award comprises a certificate, the sum of 1500 euros, a travel grant of up to 500 euros, and a fee waiver to attend the Distillation & Absorption 2014 Symposium to be held in Friedrichshafen, Germany, on 14 to 17 September 2014, where the award will be presented (symposium website: <http://www.da2014.de>).

Nominations may be submitted by any PhD supervisor at a PhD-awarding institution in an EFCE member country or by a member of an EFCE member society. The PhD thesis nominated must address a topic relevant to the field of Fluid Separations, such as distillation, absorption, extraction, membrane separation, chromatographic separation and similar, of any operating scale. Both theoretical and experimental work will be considered, as will work considering both chemical- and bio-separations.
