

APPLICATION FOR EFCE MEMBER SOCIETY MEMBERSHIP

Member Society membership is open to European non-profit making professional scientific and technical societies whose activities embrace either wholly or partly the field of chemical engineering sciences and:

- (A) which meet the conditions and obligations of Member Society membership as set out in this constitution and as determined under the rules and/or bye laws from time to time; and
- (B) which are accepted for Member Society membership by the charity trustees.

Member Societies are entitled to:

- be represented in the meeting of members/General Assembly with voting rights; and receive agenda and minutes of meetings;
- propose candidates for EFCE Presidency/Vice-Presidency, charity trustees and appoint delegates to EFCE Working Parties;
- apply for registering events as EFCE event but noting that this event must be held in a European country (European Member Societies only)
- bid for hosting the European Congress of Chemical Engineering (European Member Societies only)
- propose the formation of an EFCE Working Party or Section;
- propose nominees for medals awarded by the EFCE and for Honorary Membership.
- receive current information via the EFCE newsletters and press releases,

EFCE Member Societies have the duty

- to pay to the EFCE on receipt of the invoice from the General Secretariat an annual membership subscription. For the current membership fees see,
- to be represented in the General Assembly,
- to ensure, wherever possible, that delegates to the CIO's committees, working parties etc receive financial support, in whole or in part, for attendance at their meetings;
- to ensure that their individual members are aware of the activities of the EFCE and that the EFCE is informed about their activities in chemical engineering such as events in their countries that would be of importance to other EFCE members.

If you would like to apply to join the EFCE as Member Society, please complete the form and submit it to EFCE President, care of the General Secretariat in Frankfurt.

Please attach a copy of your society's statutes in English and a description of the society's activities in chemical engineering and related fields.
